Nikolay Dimitrov
Mayor of the Municipality of Nessebar

The soul of the people is in folklore

For centuries running the best representatives of the people have put the best part of their soul in folk songs, dances and customs. Their striving was to harmonize all of this with the requirements of the divinity and to obtain the prosperity for their people. The successful elements of this folk art have been forced over centuries and have formed the collective and eternal soul of the people. And the storage and distribution of this soul is an important part of the struggle of the nations for their survival.

At the present moment the Great battle of nations is being held. This is the battle of the nations with money and the institutions that own it - the banks and their employee organizations. Despite the huge advantage of the banks and their allies, the nations still exist. The events in Greece, Spain, Portugal and Italy confirm the actuality of the battle. And it will burst forth on many other places. Part of the weapon of the nations is precisely folklore and its beauty.

Beauty will save the world. This is the beautiful dream of the mankind, that remains topical in the contemporary informational society too. Because the reality of today reveals huge contradictions and disharmonies in a planetary scale. The growing conflict between rich and poor, between North and South, between growing population and limited opportunities for its feed put more and more questions before the mankind. The existence of many nations is threatened; the existence of the entire mankind is threatened. We seek the direction of existence, of survival and prosperity of nations.

The global contemporary world is informational one. Whether we want it or not, computer and television technologies enter the households, offices, industries, trade sites and all social activities throughout the world. To find adequate responses, we need to know what is the basis of the informational society - the information. Seems like a good definition that information is a time-spatial orderliness of energy. In this regard, information is an antipode of entropy. It is not accidental that the amount of information is estimated with a turn sign of the formula of entropy.

In fact, entropy is a measure of chaos. Therefore in modern social changes chaos has always dominated. But well-organized chaos, which does the well informed and organized structures lot of good.

And folk art is exactly the negation of chaos. Harmony and beauty of the works of folk art have survived over centuries and millennia. This is the weapon against the chaos, which our ancestors have bequeathed us. This is an informational weapon we can wrestle with and preserve the values of the particular nations that make up the treasury of mankind. But for this to happen, all contemporary potentialities of information technologies should be used, combined with the beauty, energy and harmony of the traditional folk arts. The soul of the people is in folk art, in folklore.

Naturally, preservation and dissemination of the beauty and the powerful influence of folklore can not be realized without the dedicated labour of the contemporary performers and distributors of folklore. This is the merit of the hundreds of thousands of contemporary performers of the folk art. This is the merit of the thousands organizers of festivals and producers of folklore. In Bulgaria there is a very strong tradition of preservation and dissemination of folklore. There are many folklore festivals and folk fairs, which for decades work successfully in this direction. The most authoritative and large are the fairs in Koprivishtitsa, on the Verge, Stara Planina Fest "Balkan Folk" and many others. Since I am an immediate participant in the work of Stara Planina Fest "Balkan folk" in the last fifteen years, I will afford myself to write a few words about this miracle of the Bulgarian national spirit.

What did Stara Planina Fest "Balkan Folk" accomplish during these fifteen years? Not only that through its stages have passed more than 120,000 (one hundred and twenty thousand) singers, musicians and dancers from all parts of Bulgaria and more from 18 European countries, it also became a forefather of a Revival of the Bulgarian folk art. Started at a time, when in the nascent cable television industry indivisible and frankly dominated the "chalga", with its television products it gained a worthy place for the folklore in the television broadcasting. Thanks to the influence of Stara Planina Fest "Balkan Folk" many lost local folklore festivals revived, and also many new ones were created.

On the basis of Stara Planina Fest "Balkan Folk", which from the beginning of XXI century became 1 Festival in Europe for traditional folklore arts, we created the Musical Feasts "Euro Folk". In the course of nine years Musical Feasts "Euro Folk" evolved as a compound of traditional folklore arts and contemporary television and computer technologies. Almost all stage performances of the festivals have been recorded with professional television equipment, and the producers Balkan Folk Academy and Euro Folk Academy have made and distributed thousands of TV products. And now they make the regular weekly television broadcasts "Balkan Folk", "Songs for the Soul", "Wealth of Bulgaria", "Let us be alive and well", "Folklore Feast" and the children's folklore broadcast "Little Spring". These programs are regularly broadcasted by 50 cable televisions, by the national satellite televisions: "New Bulgarian Television", "Bulgaria TV", "Travel TV", "Heros TV" and by the World Wide Internet Television "Euro Folk" at www.eurofolk.com and "Rodina TV" at www.tvrodina.com. Separate television products of Euro Folk Academy and Balkan Folk Academy are being emitted by almost all national televisions in Bulgaria and by televisions in Germany, Russia, Sweden, Belarus, Poland, Japan and other countries.

At the beginning of XXI century we created the European Association of Folklore Festivals - EAFF. Under the auspices of EAFF the Musical Feasts "Euro Folk" evolved. This year the Musical Feasts "Euro Folk" joined about 45 folklore festivals in different European countries. In the last few years the World Folklore Academy and the World Association of Folklore Festivals - WAFF also appeared. You can see details about these festivals in the Programme of the World Championship of Folklore "World Folk 2011" and on the site www.eaff.eu

There is a new trend in the activity of EAFF, which is actually a world novelty. This is the organization and conducting of different by levels championships of folklore. The aim is to create for the folklorists equivalent incentives with the competitors in Latin and ballroom dances in regional, continental and global scale. Four years ago we started with European TV Championship of Folklore, three years ago - with European Championship of Folklore, two years ago - with National Championships of Folklore. This year we marked the beginning of World Championship of Folklore "World Folk 2011" too. These initiatives have proved successful and were supported by UNESCO. We hope in future they become major championships in the field of folklore and yet to retain the essential role of the Bulgarian collectives in them. Due to the high qualities of the Bulgarian performers and our lovely folk art, so far more than half European champions are Bulgarian collectives.

For the first year, we conduct the World Championship of Folklore "World Folk". Gradually this form of organization and dissemination of folklore is gaining strength. The World Championship of Folklore "World Folk 2011" involves more than 70 collectives from 21 countries. Despite economic problems more and more collectives find the time and the money to take part in this modern form of storage, distribution and promotion of folklore of their countries. The World Championship of Folklore "World Folk 2011" is the crown of my half-century-old activity. I offer it as a gift to the nations and people who love folklore.

I heartily thank the participants in the World Championship of Folklore "World Folk 2011" and the people who support them morally and materially, so they can be able to come. I wish all of you health, joy and lots of creative success in the difficult mission of saving the world with the beauty of folklore.

Iliyan Nikolov

President of the European Association of Folklore Festivals - EAFF
and the World Association of Folklore Festivals - WAFF

It was written by Mr. Ilian D. Nikolov for the first World Championship of Folklore "World Folk 2011". Unfortunately, Mr. D. Ilian Nikolov is not among us. The efforts of the organizers of this high forum with all forces will continue in the determined direction of development.

World Championship of Folklore "World Folk 2013" will feature more than 100 bands from 24 countries.

Thank among the participants and all those who support them morally and financially. Thank teams meeting, organization, media support, TV team that will make it available to the world through live broadcasting of all concerts on the Internet at tv.eurofolk.com. Thanks in regard to the administration of the host cities and hundreds of tireless workers in the tourism industry, without which this great undertaking is impossible to happen.

Folklore wealth of nations is a guarantee for the prosperity of future generations!

FOLK GROUP "DALMATIKA", VLASICI-RTINA, REGION OF ZADAR, CROATIA

The Folk Group "DALMATIKA" comes from North Dalmatia, the District of Zadar, which is situated on the middle part of the Adriatic Coast in Croatia. The group consists of folk singers from two villages: VLAŠIĆI (on the Island of Pag) and RTINA (on the mainland). They wear traditional folk costumes from the late 19th century. Their singing and dancing reflects the multiculturalism of the Croatian coastal region of Dalmatia (Dalmacija) where two different cultures meet: the Mediterranean island culture and the Dinaric Balkan culture of the mainland. They perform chants that represent the old and the new elements of folk culture. The songs and melodies consist of different variations of three traditional musical styles: 1) old two-part Mediterranean and Balkan vocal music, which has very archaic elements; 2) traditional Dinaric and Balkanic "bass" singing that comes from the 19th century and is a characteristic of the sheepbreeding culture of the mountains and 3) Dalmatian accord singing which is found in the islands and coast, also from the 19th century. They perform various traditional circle dances ("kolo") that comprise special "kolo" songs. In addition to the folk culture, they also perform the old Croatian Glagolitic Liturgical Chanting, which is a unique phenomenon in the world. It consists of very archaic modes and chants that are completely of folk origin which were used to perform the Roman Liturgy. The unique character of the Glagolitic Liturgy is that it was the only Roman Catholic Liturgy in the whole world that was not in Latin but in Church Slavonic or Staroslavenski (Old Church Slavonic) language written in the Glagolitsa alphabet and this was a special privilege in the Catholic world that existed only in the coast and islands of Croatia from the 9th up until the 20th century. The melodies are old and new, they differ from region to region and they are tightly connected to the folk music styles of the various regions. Some of them have old Gregorian or old Byzantine roots, but for the most part they are pure traditional folk inventions and origins.

FOLKLORE GROUP PRIVLAKA-RADOVIN (Zadar, Croatia)

The Folklore Group Prvilaka-Radovin consists of two groups of singers from two villages in North Dalmatia in the Region of Zadar: Prvilaka and Radovin. Prvilaka is more a fishing village while Radovin is more a sheep breeding and agricultural. They have preserved old balvanic ("dinaric" = styles of singing such as two-part "ojkanje" or "ocanje" and in 2010 their chants, along with other groups from Dalmatia, were enlisted on UNESCO's list of cultural heritage. They have original 19th-century folk costumes and they also dance the traditional "kolo" dance. They participated in many regional and national festivals of folklore. KOD Radovin won the County of Zadar prize for its 10th anniversary. They will be performing the old "ojkanje" singing and the newer "bas" style singing in various variations along with the "kolo" dance. Also they will be performing Glagolitic liturgical chants together with the Folk Group "Dalmatika" from Rtina-Vlačica, Croatia at a special concert. Leader of the group: Ivica Dundović?
